STEAL BICYCLES OFF THE STREET

Wheels Belonging to Carl Webb and Ed Bowen Were Taken Last Night.

POLICE ARE NOTIFIED AT ONCE

Unable to Locate Stolen Property today—Bicycles Were Both Valuable.

Bicycle thieves worked well and good last night and succeeded in carrying off two valuable wheels. The bicycle belonging to Carl Webb was taken from in front of the Peoples National bank and the one belonging to Ed Bowen was stolen from the corner of Main and Second streets. The police were notified of the thefts but late this afternoon had no trace of the robbers.

Carl Webb took particular care to set his wheel up in the entrance at the bank last night when he came down after supper to do some work. He thought that it would be perfectly safe there. Ralph Payne passed the bank about nine-thirty o'clock and the wheel was still setting where Mr. Webb had left it. When he closed the bank to go home at ten o'clock the bicycle was gone. He notified Policeman Wolters at once.

Ed Bowen, who is employed on the Tom Dill farm north of the city, set his wheel up against the building at the corner of Main and Second streets to leave it there while he attended the show. He returned about ten o'clock to find that someone had stolen it. It was a valuable bicycle which he had purchased only recently. He also notified the police at once but they have been unable to find any trace of the stolen property.

Bicycle robberies have not been very common here in the past few months. They were not uncommon last summer when several in succession were made, but in nearly every instance the property was recovered.

MISSING MAN IS NOT YET LOCATED

Every Effort Has Been Made to Learn the Whereabouts of Frank McIlwain of Connersville.

NOT THOUGHT TO BE FOUL PLAY

Absolutely no word has been received by the friends of Will McIlwain, mysteriously missing now for nearly a week, says the Connersville Examiner. His friends are at a loss to know how to proceed in an effort to locate him, and it seems now that time alone will explain the mystery. The theory of foul play is not given as much credence now as at first. His friends believe that sooner or later his family will receive direct word from him.

VISITS MILROY TRIPLETS

Abel Ewing, 70 Years Old, Also One of Triplets, is Interested.

Abel Ewing of this city left for Milroy Thursday morning to see Walter Campbell's red-headed triplets, says the Greensburg Democrat. Mr. Ewing was himself a triplet and is anxious to see others of the same kind. He is seventy years of age and makes his home at the Portland hotel.

TWO MEN INJURED IN SAME MACHINE

Russell Gladish Catches Thumb and End is Severed While Loading Shells.

NEXT MAN ALSO DRAWS INJURY

Wednesday while engaged in loading shells for the Bell Powder company, Russell Gladish caught one of his thumbs in the loading machine and about half inch of the end was cut off, which disabled Gladish. General Manager William White, took his place and the loading proceeded nicely for a couple of hours when out come Mr. White with blood streaming from the end of his thumb which was cut through the nail and painfully bruised. But he was more fortunate than Gladish as the end was not severed. Both men complained considerably Wednesday evening but expressed their determination to attend the big shoot in Greensburg yesterday.

WILL ENTERTAIN GREAT CHIEFS

Mahoning Council No. 36 Degree of Pocahontas Will Initiate Large Class Tonight.

BIG BANQUET WILL BE SERVED

The members of Mahoning Council, No. 36, Degree of Pocahontas are planning to have a great time tonight when they will initiate 35 candidates and entertain the great chiefs of the State. Following the work on the large class, which may include more than thirty-five candidates, an elaborate banquet will be served. The prominent State officers who will be here are: Lillie Beech of Elwood, Great Pocahontas; Omer Graham of Anderson, Great Keeper of Records, and Nancy Diggs of Muncie, Great Winona. The members of the local council are requested to be at the meeting by seven o'clock. The visiting officers will be entertained at the Beer hotel over night.

HOLD ANNUAL OPENING

F. E. Wolcott Entertained the Women This Afternoon.

F. E. Wolcott's drug store was crowded with people this afternoon, the occasion being his annual opening. The interior of the store was attractively decorated. The women were entertained this afternoon and the auspices of the temperance board are especially invited tonight. Waggoners orchestra furnished the music.

HEAR HOOTS AND SWISH OF WINGS

Pedestrians in North Main Street Suffer Sensation of Being Hit in the Head.

AND THEIR HATS KNOCKED OFF

Owl Which Terrified Residents of The District Last Summer is Back Again.

Shrieking and hooting and letting out blood curdling and unearthly cries the North Main street owl is back once more to spend the summer season and incidentally to terrify the residents of that portion of the city. The same bird which caused so many to take to their heels or put up their "mitts" to do battle with imaginary foes last summer, will continue to pull off similar stunts this summer.

In fact it has already been performing the same old tricks. The owl swoops down on its foe and the pedestrian is not warned of its coming until he hears the swish of wings and then closely following come the terrifying hoots. The bird does not necessarily make any close shaves. It has actually attacked people. It does not hesitate to knock your hats off and peck you on the head.

A pedestrian will be walking along North Main street in the vicinity of the J. B. Reeve's home about midnight when all is quiet and he is thinking—well, makes no difference what—when suddenly he is hit in the back of the head by an unseen foe and his hat falls to the sidewalk and rolls away. He is all attention in a minute. Others—they run. But this brave man searched behind trees for the hold-up man and he is not to be found.

That same owl is the cause of all of the trouble. Charles Brown, assistant postmaster, was going home one night recently when he suffered the sensation of being hit in the back of the head. The blow was not hard enough to knock his hat off although it was pushed down over his eyes. Soon after the blow he heard the rush of the bird's wings and the shrieks and he recognized it as the owl which had been the chief terror for that neighborhood last summer.

Harvey Allen has also had an experience with the owl this spring. The bird swooped down on him one evening as he was going home, striking him squarely on the top of the head. He had a soft hat on and it was mashed down over his head. He was not frightened as he immediately recognized it as the owl of yesterday.

Several women were attacked last summer and many people who were forced to go home that way at night either chose another path home or got company to protect them. Several women have noticed the bird this spring, but it has never yet gone so far as to attack a flower garden. It is impossible to kill the bird as it has disappeared in the dark before the pedestrian can pick up his hat and the horrifying shrieks die out in the midnight air.

At Regular Meeting of Merchants Association it is Decided to Repeat "Big Wednesday."

IN TWO WEEKS ON JUNE THE 15

In Addition to That a Public Auction Will be Held—Weekly Band Concerts Are Considered.

Brimful of pent-up enthusiasm, thirty business men gathered at the regular meeting of the Rushville Retail Merchants' Association last evening. Many things were accomplished. It was definitely decided, in view of the fact that "Big Wednesday" was such a pronounced success, that the stunt would be repeated in two weeks and that in addition, a public auction would be held. The subject of holding a weekly band concert was suggested and considered. The matter was referred to the entertainment committee to report to the association.

Before the meeting was called to order a session in the nature of a good fellowship meeting was held. The business men discussed the various phases of "Big Wednesday" and looked at it at all angles. They were all jubilant over its decided success and all desired to be quoted in favor of the innovation.

The meeting was called to order shortly after eight o'clock with a good attendance. The roll call of officers was made and the regular business transacted. A communication from an eastern capitalist was read. The letter stated that an automobile company was desirous of locating in this city. The company turns out eight hundred cars a year and has orders piled up for three years to come. The letter made requirements for location, that they should be given fifteen thousand dollars for moving, a factory planned by them with seventy-five thousand feet of floor space, a site of fifteen acres of ground located on a railroad and that the citizens agree to take twenty-five thousand dollars worth of preferred stock if necessary. They would also ask that the banks carry them at certain seasons of the year for not exceeding twenty-five thousand dollars. The communication was referred to the manufacturing committee.

Several bills were allowed on expenses incident to "Big Wednesday." A report of the special committee on a factory proposition was called for. They read a letter which said in a very few words that the matter of location had been settled.

The press committee report on "Big Wednesday" was read. It showed that a canvas of the merchants had been made and they had all heartily endorsed the plan. The detailed report will be found on page eight. The press committee also presented a suggestion for a public auction, in which any and every resident of Rushville and Rush county can be a part. The conditions of the auction will also be found on page eight. It was unanimously decided to hold the "Big Wednesday" and in addition the public auction on Wednesday, June 15, or one week from next Wednesday. An auction committee will be appointed by President Ben L. Cox to take complete charge of the auction.

Tony Schrichte was the man to start the ball rolling for the press committee. He praised them for their work in making the "Big Wednesday" a success and said that the members of the association were much indebted to them. He praised them as much as his oratory would permit and suggested that they should be given a vote of thanks for their

EDITOR IS LAID TO REST

Funeral Services of George H. Puntenney Were Held Today.

The body of George H. Puntenney, former editor, politician and attorney, and one of the most prominent men in Rushville, was laid to rest in East Hill cemetery this morning. The funeral services were held at the home in West Third street at ten o'clock, conducted by the Rev. A. W. Jamieson. A number of people from out of the city were here for the services.

MILROY PLANS TO CARE FOR TRIPLETS

Collection Taken to Buy Cow and to Hire Nurse and a Shower is Held For Them.

RECEIVE VALUABLE PRESENTS

The arrival of the red-headed triplets at the home of Walter Campbell in Milroy has probably caused more excitement in that little town than any incident of recent years. The three boys are the talk of the town and are receiving more publicity than an advance agent can give a circus.

But the enthusiasm over the unique babies is something more than mere talk, it has assumed a tangible form. The citizens of Milroy have taken a hand in the matter and will assist in taking care of the babies, who are enjoying perfect health during their first days on this earth. A nurse has been employed to look after the little ones and a purse has been made up by the men in the town to buy a cow to supply the youngsters with milk. A shower was given for them the first part of the week at the home of Mrs. John Smith. The shower brought to the Campbell home fifty-two dresses, sixteen shirts, eight dollars in money and a lot of material not made up.

ROOMS NOW READY TO BE FURNISHED

Members of D. A. R. Are Prepared to Accept Any Chairs or Tables For Library.

PUBLIC HAS ASSISTED MUCH

The reading and rest rooms in the court house, which are being established by the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution are now ready to be furnished. So great has been the generosity of the public in the enterprise that at the last meeting of the members of the chapter, it was decided to announce that they are now in need of furnishings for the room and that they would be very acceptable and much appreciated. Anyone having extra chairs or tables in their homes that they can spare could not devote them to a better purpose than for use in the reading and rest room. Word may be left with Mrs. J. W. Moore, regent, or Mrs. C. H. Parsons.

IT'S TOO HIGH, SAY CANDIDATES

Douglas Morris at Indianapolis Yesterday Helping to Get Campaign Assessment Lowered.

SUPREME JUDGE ONLY $2,400

Under the New Arrangement But They Feel Election Chance Still Comes High.

Douglas Morris, candidate for Judge in the State supreme court on the Democratic ticket, was in Indianapolis yesterday attending a meeting of the Democratic State committee and incidentally trying to get his campaign assessment reduced. Sometime ago the amount was fixed at 10 per cent of the first two years' salary in the office which the candidate was seeking. This, according to Indianapolis papers, caused a howl for the amount assessed the supreme judge candidates was $3,000. Others were lower, but still higher than had been the custom in the past.

The candidates registered a protest yesterday and the amounts were reduced to 7½ per cent. The candidates will now have to pay for the chance of being elected: Secretary of State, $1,000; auditor of State, $1,125; treasurer of State, $1,000; attorney general, $1,000; superintendent of public instruction, $500; chief of bureau of statistics, $500; State geologist, $1,000; clerk of supreme court, $1,500; judges of supreme court, $2,400; judges of appellate court, $2,000.

SAGE FOR DARKENING THE HAIR.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair with wonderfully beneficial effect. Nowadays we don't have to resort to the old-time, tiresome method of gathering the herbs and making the brew. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready made product. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of Sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy. This preparation is sold by all first-class druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by Hargrove & Mullin.

If your Stomach, Heart, or Kidney are weak, try at least, a few doses only of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. In five or ten days only, the result will surprise you. A few cents will cover the cost. And here is why help comes so quickly. Dr. Shoop doesn't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to the weak and failing nerves. Each organ has its own controlling nerves. When these nerves fail, the depending organs must of necessity falter. This plain, yet vital truth, clearly tells why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is so universally successful. Its success is leading druggists everywhere to give it universal preference. A test will surely tell. Sold by F. E. Wolcott.

Lesson X.—Second Quarter, For June 5, 1910.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xiv, 22-36. Memory Verses, 26, 27—Golden Text, Matt. xiv, 33—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

It was a time of expectation, on the part of some, of the coming of Elijah or the prophet like unto Moses (Deut. xviii) or the Messiah; hence the different thoughts and sayings of people concerning John and Jesus. Some who had seen this latest miracle said, "This is of a truth that prophet that should come into the world" (John vi, 14). When Jesus, therefore, perceived that they would come and take Him by force to make Him a king He constrained His disciples to get into a ship and go before Him across the sea, while He sent the multitudes away, and He went alone into a mountain to commune with His Father, no doubt about many things. He felt free to talk with His Father at any time, in any place and about everything. Heaven and the Father were more real to Him than all the places and people on earth. He could say as none other ever could, "I came down from heaven;" "I go to prepare a place for you." Even while He was on earth He spoke of Himself as "the Son of Man which is in heaven" (John iii, 13). If we are taught in the last lesson the one great business of the believers who are on the earth to give the bread of life to the perishing we have in this at least a suggestion of the present work of Christ, in heaven with the Father, on our behalf.

As we see the disciples in the boat, toiling in rowing, tossed with the waves, for the wind was contrary unto them, and Jesus alone on the land we can hardly fail to recognize a picture of this present age with Jesus on high, while the company of believers on earth toil on, contending with many contrary things and seemingly making little progress. I am glad that it is written "He saw them toiling" (Mark vi, 48). I recall that is written concerning Israel in Egypt, "I have surely seen the affliction of my people" and have heard their cry, "I am come down to deliver them" (Ex. iii, 7, 8). We are sure that God knows and loves and cares and will in due time deliver His church from this evil age and will deliver you, suffering one, from your trials in the very best time and way (II Cor. i, 10; II Tim. iv, 18). In the fourth watch of the night Jesus went unto them, walking on the sea. In the morning, that may now be very near, He will come for His church, and just as the disciples were immediately at the land as soon as they received Him into the boat so the church will be at her destination as soon as she welcomes Him on His return for her. Oh, that she might say with one accord, "Come, Lord Jesus!" The morning deliverances of Scripture are a most profitable study—for example, the overthrow of the host of Pharaoh, the deliverance of Daniel from the lions' den, the future deliverance of Israel in the time of their great tribulation according to Ps. xlii, 5, margin. It will be a beautiful morning for Israel, according to II Sam. xxiii, 4, but there will be no morning for unbelievers, and so the morning cometh and also the night (Isa. viii, 20, R. V.; xxi, 12). At first the disciples cried out for fear when they saw the Lord walking on the sea, and there are many believers who would be greatly startled if Jesus should come. Just recently I have heard several confess that when they first heard of Jesus' coming again, literally coming for His church, and that it might be at any time it gave them cold chills. Some added that the chill soon gave place to a thrill of joy, and it has been a joyful expectation ever since. How blessed His "Be of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid." Compare Matt. ix, 2, 22; John xvi, 33; Acts xxiii, 11. May we have grace to recognize Him and His love in every event.

Peter as literally walked on the water as Jesus did, but not far, for he took his eyes off Jesus, and the wind and the waves were more real to him than the Lord, and he began to sink. His prayer was very brief and to the point, "Lord, save me." Immediately that kind hand held him, and he was safe, and soon they were in the boat, and the wind ceased. Peter's trouble was "little faith and real doubt." Do we not see ourselves? We must have faith and doubt not (Jas. i, 6). In a letter from a physician, an earnest Christian, received this week he says: "In instances where I have absolutely trusted Him, where all else had failed and the darkness was so black, He never failed me. Oh, if I could always absolutely trust Him without wavering!" The faith of the disciples was evidently strengthened, for they said, "Of a truth Thou art the Son of God."

When He had landed and the people knew it they soon brought to Him from all the country round about all who were diseased, asking the privilege of just touching the hem of His garment, and as many as touched were made perfectly whole. They must have touched as did the woman of chapter ix. But some must have spread the knowledge of Him or the others would not have known. What are we doing to tell the glad tidings of such a Saviour? Are we zealous in this matter? How do we show our love and gratitude to Him and our love to others?

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning June 5, 1910.

Topic.—Christ our Judge.—Matt. xxv, 31-46. (Consecration meeting.) Comment by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

A judge in civil life is an official before whom those charged with civil or criminal misconduct are brought for trial. In our country there are various degrees of courts, each one limited as to the character of cases that may be tried before it. The supreme court of the United States at Washington is the highest form of court in our land, passing judgments affecting the constitution of the United States, and these judgments are final. It is the court of last resort, and its decisions cannot be appealed to any other tribunal. The surroundings of many courts are most brilliant, but none will be so glorious when Christ, the Son of Man, shall come, with all his holy angels, and sit upon the throne of His glory and judge the world. No human court has a universal jurisdiction, but when Christ appears as a judge it will be to judge the world, and His judgment will be final, and no appeal from it will be possible. These facts should impress us most seriously. We should think of Christ as a judge as well as our Lord and Saviour.

The jurisdiction of Christ as a judge will in the last day be a universal one. "And before Him shall be gathered all nations." The people of every nation that lived in the history of the world will stand before Him. Therefore we ourselves will be among that number. No one can escape. Many who commit crimes against civil governments fly to some distant land and escape trial, but this cannot be done in the day of the general judgment. Men will call upon the hills and rocks to fall upon them and destroy them, but nothing of the kind will happen. The righteous and the wicked will alike stand before Christ the Judge and receive sentence from Him.

In His capacity as judge Christ will divide all nations into two classes. The first, which he calls the sheep, will stand upon His right hand, and the second, designated as the goats, will stand upon His left hand. The sheep typify the innocent, the gentle, the good, while the goats represent the unworthy. The right hand signifies honor and favor, while the left hand denotes the opposite. This judicial distinction between the right hand and left hand is also found in classical writers. To the ones on the right hand Jesus in passing judgment says, "Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world;" to those on the left hand, "Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire prepared for the devil and his angels." What joy to those upon the right hand! What awful woe and anguish to those upon the left hand! On one of these two sides we shall stand. One of these two judgments will be pronounced upon us. Which? It depends entirely upon us in the relation we assume toward Christ in this life.

Christ seems to base His judgments upon our personal goodness, but He really goes deeper than that. He recalls what they had done unto Him through doing unto His disciples and "in His name." Pure humanitarianism will save no soul. Works must be founded upon faith in Christ, for when those who were condemned declared that they had had no opportunity to do such things He replied that in doing them not unto the least of His disciples they did them not unto Him. In Christ's name and by faith in Him good works alone are well pleasing to Christ and to His Father.

The judgment of Christ is final and for all eternity. No sentence ever ends. "These shall go into everlasting punishment, but the righteous into life everlasting." How much, therefore, we have at stake in this judgment of Christ! "Everlasting punishment!" "Everlasting life!" Which will we choose?

Hungary and Egypt Press On.

Ex-Secretary Von Ogden Vogt, who returned from a trip to Europe and the east, has many encouraging things to say about Christian Endeavor as he found it in his travels. In Budapest, Hungary, where Professor Szabo for many years has been the efficient leader, the Endeavorers are taking hold of Christian Endeavor work in a spirit of reliant faith that is most gratifying. They have taken over and become responsible for one of the finest hospitals in the city. This hospital is excellently equipped for all medical work, and, besides, it has a fine chapel which will be used for religious services. Mr. Vogt was shown over the place, and he is delighted with all that he saw, especially the enterprise that has prompted the Endeavorers to engage in this great and responsible work. The Endeavor outlook in Egypt is also most gratifying, and the society is taking forward steps. Next year the Endeavorers hope to hold a great convention there, and, in view of this, Mr. Vogt assisted the workers in organizing what might perhaps be called an Egyptian Christian Endeavor union to push forward the cause. Thus abroad as well as at home Christian Endeavor, 1910, is closing up its ranks and pressing toward the mark.

On the United States battleship South Dakota there is a Christian Endeavor society with ten members. It was organized by one of the marines with the aid of Endeavorers in Honolulu.

The Designer That's Paid Like a King

The man who designs United Clothes is paid a fabulous salary. But United Clothes styles are original creations. Anyone can copy fashion plates. It takes a master to create style.

United Clothes

unlike common fashion-plate clothes, have individuality, and that's what you want if you have what is called "personality."

It takes more than a thousand skilled people working every day to make enough of these clothes to supply the demand.

The clothes must be good to be popular.

And it's on account of this mammoth production that we can give so much for the money.

United Clothes are priced at

Ten, Fifteen and Twenty Dollars

We recommend them to men who want the utmost in clothes value.

STOMACHS REPAIRED

Relieves Distress in Five Minutes—Guaranteed to Cure Indigestion, or Money Back.

Let Mrs. Griffith tell you about Mi-o-na, the greatest prescription for stomach troubles ever written:

For years I have doctored for acute gastritis, but only received slight benefit, and had to be careful what I ate. But, thanks to Mi-o-na stomach tablets, I can now eat anything. Last Christmas, after partaking of a hearty turkey dinner, I was seized with an attack of acute indigestion, and the doctor worked over me for hours before I got relief. He paid me eight visits before I could say I was well enough to sit up. But since then I have not been troubled since then I have taken Mi-o-na tablets, and I have not been troubled since. Before using Mi-o-na I had attacks about every month."—Mrs. Ida Griffith, 1213 C. St., Washington, D. C., July 5, 1909.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets are sold by druggists everywhere and at F. B. Johnson & Co. for 50 cents a large box. They are guaranteed to cure indigestion, sour stomach, belching gas, dizziness, biliousness, heaviness, or any stomach ailment.

New Land Grant

Some time ago "land sharks" conducted a lottery here and gave sixty lots to New Castle people, who were unfortunate enough to hold lucky numbers, says the New Castle Courier. All were highly elated over their seeming good luck, but now comes the word that there is no such place as "Oil City," never has been and that the chances are very remote for there being such a place, as described and set forth in the deeds.

H. W. Rummel was one of the lucky fellows who drew a lot. Being of an inquisitive turn of mind he investigated and received a reply from R. W. Foster, recorder of deeds at Tahlequah, Cherokee county, Oklahoma. "Oil City" was supposed to be located in that county. According to the shapers, "Oil City" had a population of 600 and was growing faster than a mushroom on a nice warm night after a spring shower.

The abstract of title was where the shapers made their money. The people who were enthused over the proposition and who expected to help build up the new western town were to pay for the abstract and recording of the deed, all of which would be done for the nominal sum of about $5. Foster's reply was that the abstract was all right, that a clear title could be given for the lots described, but that the described territory in which "Oil City" is supposed to be located consists of nothing but rocks and black jacks.

Rummel has concluded that he don't care for any of that kind of property and will hang onto his five dollar William.

Other parties who drew lots in "Oil City" will likely receive the same kind of information if they write to Foster.

HIGHER WAGES.

Washburn-Crosby Co., the largest millers in the world, voluntarily grant a substantial increase in the wages of the men working in their big flour-mills. This company has for years endeavored to man its mills with the highest class of labor obtainable and to recognize long service and efficiency in a substantial manner. The present wage increase, which is based on the principle of individual merit, will run about 8 per cent, and speaks well for the work of the men in the mills as well as the splendid relations existing between employer and employee in the Washburn-Crosby Co. The voluntary advance at this time is all the more appreciated by the men in that the milling industry is at present passing through a very dull period. The Washburn-Crosby mills manufacture Gold Medal Flour, have a capacity of 40,000 barrels per day and employ between 1,500 and 2,000 men.

Nearly three and a quarter million tons of potatoes were raised in Ireland last year.

Weak Over-worked Women

Who are broken down and made invalids by the drudgery of never ending household cares and duties, or by over-frequent bearing and nursing of children, and many other cares, burdens and strains which the weaker sex have to bear, are deserving of profound sympathy. But while sympathy is commendable what these unfortunate women most need is a good, honest, square-deal Restorative Tonic and Strength-giving Nervine and Regulator—one compounded and carefully adapted to act in harmony with woman's peculiar, delicate, ever sensitive organization.

Who so well fitted to select, carefully proportion the ingredients and compound a remedy for the cure of these distressing and often pain-wracking weaknesses and derangements, as the carefully and thoroughly educated and regularly graduated physician who has had a long and successful experience in treating just this class of cases.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

THIS MEDICINE IS

THE ONE REMEDY Now, and for over 40 years, sold by druggists for Woman's Peculiar Weaknesses, and Distressing Ailments, gotten up by one having all of the above qualifications.

THE ONE REMEDY which absolutely contains neither alcohol (which to most Women is rank poison) nor injurious or habit-forming drugs.

THE ONE REMEDY which is so perfect in its composition and so good in its curative effects as to warrant its makers in printing its every ingredient, as they do, on its outside wrapper, verifying the same under solemn oath.

In all the above most important particulars, the "Favorite Prescription" stands absolutely alone—in a class all by itself—as woman's most reliable and trust-worthy remedy in time of sickness and distress. It is a pure glyceric extract made from American curative roots, found by long time experience most valuable in curing woman's weaknesses and derangements. The leaders in all schools of medical practice have endorsed each of its ingredients as of the best known remedies for the complicated affections for which it is recommended. These professional endorsements should count for far more than any number of lay testimonials. A booklet full of them sent free on receipt of name and address.

Reading and Rest Room.

The members of the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution have done a very commendable work in Rushville. They are not only to be commended, but they are to be highly praised. They, by their untiring industry, thrift and stictitiveness have filled a much felt want in Rushville. They have accomplished something which many men in Rushville have failed on. They have practically established a public library in the community.

But their work is not yet finished. They have more to do. They were successful with the book shower and obtained a large and valuable collection of works. Then after months of tireless work with ever increasing energy, they overcame seemingly unsurmountable difficulties. They spent two whole days with the county commissioners, refusing to be turned away. They finally met with success and were granted the permission to use a room in the court house for their reading and rest room.

But again their work is not completed. The rooms must be furnished and since the improvement is for the good of the community at large, the members of the community should assist in the work. The members of the chapter do not wish to pose as beggars, but they will accept any offering which anyone can spare. They feel that the enterprise would not have met with such success, had not the public assisted and now they are not asking them for anything but only desire to let them know that any donation will be very much appreciated.

For the Farmers.

So well pleased are the merchants with the number of strange faces which Big Wednesday brought to town that they have already set the date for the next one on June 15. And in addition to the regular bargains to be offered on that day a new feature will be added which should appeal strongly to farmers all over the county. A public auction will be held.

This is primarily for the benefit of the farmer. The merchants association agrees to employ two first class auctioneers to sell the stuff. Any farmer in Rush county will be permitted to enter in the sale any article or animal if it does not conflict with the business of the merchants here. It may readily be seen what this means to the farmer. He may have a horse or a cow or something else which he wishes to sell and yet not be able to sell it privately. Here the crowd will be assembled and the auctioneers furnished all for his benefit.

Rushville merchants want the trade of every Rush county farmer and they feel that once he trades here, he will be a regular customer. That is one reason they have introduced this novel feature—to draw people here who otherwise might not come. Again they appreciate the trade of the regular customers and by offering this opportunity to the farmer, the merchants all together show their appreciation of his trade.

Everything will be done to make the day an enjoyable as well as a profitable one for the farmer. It is believed that when those who were not here last Wednesday hear of the bargains they, too, will be here next time. Nothing will be left undone and Wednesday, June 15 will be a big day for the farmers.

EDITORIALETTES.

"Punsterally" speaking then, young Carr was merely sidetracked for a while.

It may be well to remember that Riley never wrote any of those beautiful poems in such a June as this.

You can hardly blame the Democratic candidates for objecting to paying so much for the chance of being elected when the chance is so small.

The crop of June brides seems to have escaped the late frosts.

Cheer up! the Fourth of July is coming and it always rains then.

Wisconsin has her frosts, Oklahoma her prostrating heat, Rushville a little of all kinds of weather, and New Castle a new factory.

They say that 100-in-the-shade weather is coming this way. There is a movement on foot to meet it at Arlington with a brass band.

But there seems to be considerable danger of the agitators getting cold feet.

Yes, weatherettes or editorialettes whichever you choose to call them.

If that comet could be found guilty of this weather, it ought to be sent tail and all to the solar prison for the rest of its natural life.

The Bell Smokeless Powder company of St. Paul will be perfectly all right if it does not go up in smoke.

"Knee Deep in June," wrote Riley and "Knee Deep in Water" writes the country correspondent.

Milroy will outdo Rushville if its population continues to increase as it has in the past week.

The joint worms in the wheat may take the rheumatism and stop monkeying with the wheat.

(Shelbyville Democrat.)

A three legged chicken is the latest nature "fake" which has been reported to the Democrat. The curiosity made its appearance a few days ago at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Heck, who reside about six miles west of this city. The chick has two legs normally developed and a third leg even larger than the other two. It is covered with feathers and terminates in five toes. The freak chick is healthy and bids fair to survive for several years.

How to Put on a Collar

The Delineator will have a new feature in the July number—a man's page in a woman's magazine. H. L. Mencker tells how to put on a collar as follows:

Various seductive chemical nostrums, designed to facilitate the buttoning of tight collars by softening or shrinking the neck, are offered in the shops, but the prudent man will have none of them. Nine times out of ten they are cheap and dangerous combinations of graphite, glucose and some corrosive acid, with the addition of a strong scent. That the acid actually makes the neck more ductile may be freely admitted, but at what cost! Wrinkles quickly follow its use, and large, xanthomatous freckles, and, in a few short months, a once rotund and resilient neck acquires the texture of a broiled shad-roe and the dull soggy of the lemon-pie of commerce.

The wise man employs less deleterious aids to collarization. They are chiefly of a mechanical, and often of a homely nature. The common Spanish garrote is extremely effective, though in unskilled hands it is apt to fracture the vertebral or impede the normal ventilation of the system. The collar is first fastened loosely to the neck with pins or sealing-wax and the garrote is then slipped over it. Then the handle of the instrument is given three or four turns, and immediately released. So great is the pressure exerted that the neck will remain compressed, even after the garrote has been removed, long enough to enable one to button the collar. A surgeon's tourniquet, made of a silk muffler and a chair-leg, is almost as efficient.

The man whose neck is of greater diameter than his head may solve the collar-buttoning problem quite easily by buttoning his collar to the neck-band of his shirt before he draws the latter garment over his head.

This method was invented by Duns Scotus, the eminent philosopher, and was a favorite with Oliver Cromwell, Louis XIV and Martin Van Buren. A few days of practise give one complete mastery of the trick.

AMUSEMENTS

The Vaudet management offers a big feature film tonight in the subject "Foolish Preaches Temperance." It is advertised as a picture of much merit and is said to deal lightly with the temperance question. A new illustrated song will be on the program.

The Palace will have a good program tonight in the film "Her Life For Her Soul." The picture is a drama produced by the Urban-Eclipse company, which pictures have not been shown here for several weeks. The story depicted by the subject is one of intense human interest with good dramatic action. Miss Iva Brown will sing a new song.

Despite the chilly weather a good crowd attended the performance of the Guy Stock company last night. They will produce a drama tonight entitled "The Prodigal Son." It is said to have great possibilities for the members of the company. The play tonight is advertised as the feature production of the week. The specialties between acts have been very attractive features of the performances for the past few nights. The German school exercises, one of the specialties last night, received hearty applause. They will put on completely new acts tonight. The band will give free concerts each noon and evening as usual.

The Star Grand offers two of Geo. Melies comic subjects tonight. The first is entitled "A Race for a Bride." The swells stopping at the same hotel, one a bicyclist, the other a horseman, and the third a motorist, are ardently in love with the same widow, living in a villa some distance in the country. She does not want to lose an opportunity. "The first one reaching my home and me can claim me as his bride." They are off and the race begins, the bicyclist in the lead, followed by the horseman, who is closely pressed by the motorist. They have all kinds of mishaps, but it is a great race. The second subject is entitled "A Rough Night on the Bridge." In a happy mood, a rollicking, good natured party of "Jack Tars" on shore leave out for a good time, and get themselves well under way in song and general good cheer by visiting the only place of merchandise and refreshment. They roll along until they come to a swinging bridge crossing the river. Here is where they strike rough weather. She's heaving mountain high now, and threatens to turn turtle, when "scuttle me timbers," one after the other the whole mass is landed into the gurgling stream—at last they have to take water.

BARNARD WINS OVER HITCHCOCK

Sixth District Congressman Succeeds In Getting Postmaster Appointed at Richmond.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL OPPOSE

Wanted to Keep Same Man on The Job—Similar Situation in Greenfield Now.

The inside facts about the change in the postmastership at Richmond, just announced, make interesting reading, says the New Castle Times. It is known that Postmaster General Hitchcock was very loath to make a change there. The incumbent postmaster has held the office only four years and he has made tip-top record. It required a good deal of persuasion from Representative Barnard to induce the postmaster general to consent to the appointment of E. M. Haas—not that there was any objection to Mr. Haas, but because Mr. Hitchcock thought that if there ever was a case where the department's policy of keeping good men in office should prevail, this was one.

The postmaster general probably would not have yielded at all but for one circumstance. Months ago, shortly after Judge Barnard's election to congress, he announced to the people of Richmond and Wayne county that he would recommend Mr. Haas for postmaster. This announcement was generally pleasing to the public for Mr. Haas has a high standing as a man of ability and character.

It was to save Mr. Barnard the embarrassment of being turned down after having gone on record in relation to the principal postmastership in his district that Hitchcock reluctantly gave his consent and Mr. Haas will handle the mails during the next four years.

A similar situation confronts Mr. Barnard at Greenfield. Walter Bridges, postmaster of that town, has made a first-class record for efficiency. He is serving his first term and would like to have a reappointment. There are several other aspirants. What will Judge Barnard do? Or, rather, what can he do? If he undertakes to make a change he is almost certain to "get a rise" out of Postmaster General Hitchcock, and it is doubtful whether Hitchcock would consent to a change under any circumstances.

FOUR OF A KIND.

(Greensburg Democrat.)

Along side of the Milroy triplets is reported a case of quadruplets, which is of interest to note. Dr. S. V. Wright possesses a picture of the four smiling babes, who were born several years ago in Newton county, near the Illinois line. The appreciative young men of the home town of the babies encouraged by Dr. Wright who began the collection with a ten dollar bill, purchased a cow for them while the young ladies brought a quartet bed for the little fellows.

Next Excursion to Roswell, Pecos Valley, New Mexico

Tuesday, June 7, 1910

Leaving either on the 5:29 a. m. train or 10:46 a. m. train over the C. H. & D. R. R. via of Chicago.

Drop your spring work for 10 days, or long enough to go down to the Pecos Valley, the finest irrigated country in the United States. Where the Climate conditions are the finest; investment opportunities on every hand.

Get a tract of land near ORCHARD PARK where you will be among your own neighbors and friends.

See the farmers of the Pecos Valley harvesting their alfalfa; look over their thousands of acres of orchard and see the fruit trees laden with fruit.

I brought a bale of alfalfa back with me from the Pecos Valley, which can be seen in my office in New Finney Block, Rushville, Indiana.

Alfalfa is the King Crop of America.

Any one of the five (5) cuttings of alfalfa amount to more than a Rush County farmer's whole year's crop.

Improved Orchard and Alfalfa Lands sell for $500 to $1,000 per acre, yet you can buy the same class of unimproved lands for $30 up, and improve them yourself by your own labor.

"You're going on the stage?"
She nodded.
"I've had a very big offer."
The judge leaned forward, and in a low voice, so that no one in the outer office might hear, he said:
"Well, I'll give you twice as much if you refuse the engagement."
She laughed ironically.
"You mean that my father-in-law will give it," she said, lightly. Then she went on:
"You know it's no use your asking me to concede anything unless you agree to defend Howard."
The lawyer shook his head.
"I can't—it's impossible."
"Then neither can I," she exclaimed, defiantly.
Judge Brewster could not refrain from smiling. This young woman had actually enveigled him into an argument. Almost mockingly, he said:
"So you're determined to have me."
"Yes," she said, simply.
"But I don't argue criminal cases."
"That's just it," she exclaimed, eagerly; "my husband is not a criminal. He is innocent. I don't want a lawyer who is always defending criminals. I want one who defends a man because he isn't a criminal."
Judge Brewster waved his hand contemptuously.
"Go and see some other lawyer—there are plenty of 'em."
She leaned eagerly forward. Her face was flushed from excitement, her eyes flashed.
"There's only one Judge Brewster," she exclaimed. "He's the greatest lawyer in the world, and he's going to help us. He is going to save Howard's life."

If Sick

Don't risk even one single penny!

And I will tell you why I say this.
It is because every package of Dr. Shoop's medicine is absolutely free if it fails.
No one need risk even one single penny.
Just think what this means to the suffering sick!
No risk, no expense, nothing whatever unless health first returns for 30 full days, and without the risk of a single penny, you can use either of my two famous remedies—Dr. Shoop's Restorative or Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy.
Then why take any chance whatever?
Why purchase any medicine whose maker dare not back it just as I do by this remarkable offer?
And besides, I am not new to you.
My "No pain pay" plan has made Dr. Shoop's Restorative famous in every drug store in the land. The big blue boxes said, "We take no chance whatever here."
For twenty years Dr. Shoop's medicines have become thoroughly standardized all over America. And I have collected honest and responsible druggists in every city and village everywhere to act as my agents and to give you these selected drugs at the lowest possible prices to the sick—and the entire risk is mine alone.
But write me first for an order.
I have an agent in almost every community—but all druggists are not authorized to grant the 30 day test.
So drop me a line, please—and thus save all disappointments and delays.
Besides, you are free to consult me by letter as you would your home physician. Do so freely and fully—if you desire. My advice and the book below are yours—free without cost. Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up some serious ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private prescription or personal advice plan.
Besides, the books will open up new and helpful ideas to you. They tell of my 30 years experience at the bedside in homes and in hospitals. All phases of sickness and relief are told of here. They tell of a "modern" inside nerve no larger than a silken thread, but gives to the Heart its impulse. How the Stomach and Kidney each have their inside or power nerve. How these organs surely falter when these controlling or master nerves begin to fail. How Dr. Shoop's Restorative gives to these failing nerves, and rebuilds, and vitalizes, and restores the lost tone and power. It can surely help you—if it is within the power of medicine to do so. My best effort is surely worth your simple request. So write now, while it is fresh in mind, for tomorrow never comes. Dr. Shoop, Box 12, Racine, Wis.

The judge shifted uneasily on his chair. He didn't like this forceful, persistent young woman. Almost fretfully, he said:

"You always say that. Upon my word, I shall begin to believe it soon."

"I shall say it again," she exclaimed, "and again every time I see you."

The lawyer turned round. There was a comic look of despair in his face which would have amused his visitor had her errand not been so serious.

"How often do you intend that shall be?"

"Every day," she replied, calmly. "I shall say it and think it until—until it comes true."

Judge Brewster tried to feel angry, although inwardly he had hard work to keep from smiling. With pretended indignation, he said:

"You mean that you intend to keep at me until I give way—through sheer exhaustion?"

She nodded.

"That's it exactly," she said.

The lawyer gasped.

"Well, I must say you—you're very brave."

Annie shook her head.

"No, I'm not," she said, earnestly.

"I'm an awful coward, but I'm fighting for him. Howard Jeffries lifted me up when I was way down in the world. He gave me his name. He gave me all he had, to make me a better woman, and I'm grateful. Why, even a dog has gratitude, even a dog will lick the hand that feeds him. Why should I hesitate to express my gratitude? That's all I'm doing—just paying him back a bit of the debt I owe him, and I'm going to move Heaven and earth to bring his father around to my way of thinking. I've got you already—"

The judge bounded to his feet. Could his ears have heard aright?

"Got me already?" he exclaimed.

"What do you mean by that?"

Annie returned his angry look with the utmost calm. She was playing her cards well, and she knew it. She had hit the old man in a sensitive place. Quietly, she went on:

"You'd say 'yes' in a minute if it wasn't for Mr. Jeffries."

"Oh, you think so, do you?" he gasped.

"I'm sure of it," she replied, confidently. Boldly she went on: "You're afraid of him."

Judge Brewster laughed heartily.

"Afraid of him?" he echoed.

"It isn't so funny," she went on.

"You're afraid of opposing him. I'm not surprised. I'm afraid of him myself."

The lawyer looked at her in an amused kind of way.

"Then why do you oppose him in everything?" he demanded.

Annie laughed as she replied:

"That's the only way I can get his attention. Why, when he met me out there to-day he actually looked at me. For the first time in his life he recognized that he has a daughter-in-law. He looked at me—and I'm not sure, but I think he wanted to bow to me. He's kind of beginning to sit up and take notice."

Judge Brewster frowned. He did not like the insinuation that he was afraid to do the right thing because it might interfere with his emoluments. Yet, secretly, he had to admit to himself that she had almost guessed right. Now he came to think of it, he had taken this stand in the matter because he knew that any other course would displease his wealthy client. After all, was he doing right? Was he acting in conformance with his professional oath? Was he not letting his material interests interfere with his duty? He was silent for several minutes, and then, in an absent-minded kind of way, he turned to his visitor.

"So you think I'm afraid of him, do you?"

"I'm sure of it," she said, quickly.

"You liked my husband, and you'd just love to rush in and fight for him. His father thinks he is guilty and, well—you don't like to disobey him. It's very natural. He's an influential man, a personal friend of the president and all that. You know on which side your bread is buttered, and—oh, it's very natural—you're looking out for your own interests—"

Judge Brewster interrupted her impatiently.

"Circumstances are against Howard. His father judges him guilty from his own confession. It's the conclusion I'm compelled to come to myself. Now, how do you propose to change that conclusion?"

"You don't have to change it," she said, quietly. "You don't believe Howard guilty."

"I don't?" exclaimed the lawyer.

"No, at the bottom of your heart. You knew Howard when he was a boy, and you know he is as incapable of that crime as you are."

Judge Brewster lapsed into silence, and there followed a perfect quiet, broken only by the suppressed chatter of the clerks and clicking of the typewriters in the outer office. Annie watched him closely, wondering what was passing in his mind, fearing in her heart that she might have prejudiced him against her husband only the more. Suddenly he turned on her.

"Mrs. Jeffries, how do you know that your husband did not kill Robert Underwood?"

"I know it," she said, confidently.

"Yes," persisted the judge, "but how do you know it?"

Annie looked steadily at him, and then she said solemnly:

"I know there's a God, but I can't tell you how I know it, that's all! Howard didn't do it. I know he didn't."

The lawyer smiled.

"That's a very fair sample of feminine logic."

"Well, it's all I have," she retorted, with a toss of her head. "And it's a mighty comfort, too, because when you know a thing you know it and it makes you happy."

Judge Brewster laughed outright.

"Feminine deduction!" he cried.

"Think a thing, believe it, and then you know it!" Looking up at her, he asked:

"Haven't you any relatives to whom you can go?"

She shook her head.

"No," she said, sadly. "My father died in—Sing Sing—and the rest are not worth—"

"Yes, yes, I know," replied the judge, hastily. "I got your family history from Mr. Jeffries after your marriage. It is filed away among the family archives."

She smiled sadly.

"It's a wonder you don't burn 'em

TIME TO ACT

Don't Wait for the Fatal Stages of Kidney Illness. Profit by Rushville People's Experiences.

Occasional attacks of backache, irregular urination, headaches and dizzy spells are common early symptoms of kidney disorders. It's an error to neglect these ills. The attacks may pass off for a time but return with greater intensity. If there are symptoms of dropsy—puffy swelling below the eyes, bloating of limbs and ankles, or any part of the body, don't delay a minute. Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and keep up the treatment until the kidneys are well, when your old time health and vigor will return. Cures in Rushville prove the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.

Mrs. Jacob Roth, R. R. 4 Rushville, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been a standard remedy in my family for the past two years and I am firmly convinced that there is no other kidney medicine on the market equal to it. We have taken Doan's Kidney Pills time and time again and they have never failed to give relief from kidney and bladder trouble. I have such great faith in the curative powers of this preparation that I never fail to speak a good word for it when I hear anyone complaining of kidney trouble."

up—my folks were not a very brilliant lot." Earnestly she went on: "But my father was all right, judge. Blood was thicker than water with him. He'd never have gone back on me in the way Howard's father has on him."

The lawyer looked at her fixedly without speaking. Their eyes met, and the silence continued until it became embarrassing. Judge Brewster shook his head.

"It's too bad. I'm sorry for you, really, I—"

Annie laughed, and he asked:

"Why do you laugh?"

"What's the use of crying?" she said. "Ha! Ha! It's almost a joke. You're sorry, my father-in-law is sorry, and I suppose my mother-in-law is shedding tears for me, too. You're all sorry and you're all wearing crape for us, but why can't some of you do something?"

The lawyer said nothing. He still stared at her in a strange, absent-minded kind of way, until finally she lost patience. Boldly she said:

"Well, you sent for me. What do you want to see me about, judge?"

"I want to tell you that you mustn't come here again," he answered.

"Anything else?" she exclaimed.

The judge began to fuss with the papers on his desk, as he usually did when embarrassed for words.

"Of course," he stammered, "you will be amply compensated."

"Of course," she cried. Rising from her chair, she shrugged her shoulders, and said:

"Oh, well, this is not my lucky day. They wouldn't let me into the prison to see Howard to-day. Capt. Clinton doesn't like me. He has always tried to prevent my seeing Howard, but I'll see him to-morrow, captain or no captain. He can make up his mind to that!"

The lawyer looked up at her.

"Poor girl—you are having a hard time, aren't you?"

"Things have been better," she replied, with a tremor in her voice.

"Howard and I were very happy when we first—"

A sob choked her utterance, and she forced a laugh, saying: "Here, I must keep off that subject—"

"Why 'do you laugh?' demanded the lawyer.

Already hysterical, Annie had great difficulty in keeping back her tears.

"Well, if I don't laugh," she sobbed, "I'll cry; and as I don't want to cry—why—I just laugh. It's got to be one or the other—see—?"

He said nothing, and she continued:

"Well, I guess I'll go home—home—that's the worst part of it—home—"

She stopped short, she could go no further. Her bosom was heaving, the hot tears were rolling down her cheeks. The old lawyer turned away his head so that she might not see the suspicious redness in his eyes. Moving toward the door, she turned around.

"You Take Too Much for Granted."

THE COLONEL TO HAVE NEW ROLE

Taft Names Him Head of Peace Commission.

HOW THE NEWS WAS RECEIVED

Varied Emotions Were Expressed in Congress When It Became Known That the President Had Picked on Roosevelt as the Very Man to Head New Movement Looking to the Inauguration of Universal Peace.

Washington, June 3.—When those members of the house who admire Theodore Roosevelt at a distance and who wish that he would continue disturbing the peace of Europe for an indefinite period learned that President Taft had announced that he intended to appoint Mr. Roosevelt at the head of the commission of five soon to be created by congress to assist in preserving world-wide peace, they displayed emotion. Somebody told the news to Representative Tawney of Minnesota. Mr. Tawney threw up both hands, uttered an emphatic "What's that!" and dived into his committee room, where he refused himself to all newspaper men who did not first explain that they had no intention of discussing Colonel Roosevelt or the peace commission. Other members displayed great interest in the announcement. Speaker Cannon, when somebody told him about Mr. Taft's announcement, bit a cigar in half, scratched his head and refused to commit himself further. All the insurgents, though, were tickled. Representative Victor Murdock of Kansas uttered a loud "Grand!" and the other Republicans who have been fighting Speaker Cannon and the house organization, and who seem to think that Mr. Roosevelt is with them, expressed themselves in about the same way.

The fact that Colonel Roosevelt was slated to become the leading factor in the movement for world-wide peace became known when the house committee on foreign affairs authorized Representative Bennett of New York to combine a resolution introduced by him with one offered by Bartholdt of Missouri, the real "friend of the dove" so as to provide for the creation of a commission of five members to be appointed by the president to "consider the expedience of utilizing existing international agencies for the purpose of limiting the armaments of the nations of the world by international agreement and of constituting the combined navies of the world an international force for the preservation of universal peace."

Of course as soon as this action by the committee had been announced there was a lot of speculation as to the personnel of this commission. It was then that Captain Foster and other members of the foreign affairs committee let it be known that they called on the president some days ago to discuss this proposition, and that Mr. Taft had nominated Colonel Roosevelt for the job. According to these gentlemen the president never even mentioned another name in connection with the chairmanship—or whatever it may be called—of this commission.

He simply exclaimed, according to one of his callers:

"Why, Theodore Roosevelt is the one man for that job."

The president added, so his visitors say, that Mr. Roosevelt would have world-wide peace if he had to lick every nation to get it. The members of the foreign affairs committee left the White House thoroughly in accord with this view of the case.

It All Depends.

Paris, June 3.—Henri De Lorme, a Paris banker who moved in the best society and who swindled clients to the amount of $1,000,000, has just been sentenced to three years' imprisonment. Henri Fournier, who stole a pint of cognac, received a similar sentence.

SUGAR TRUST IN MORE MEANNESS

How Havemeyer Cheated Men From Whom He Bought.

FAKE TESTS USED ON THEM

In Continuing His Testimony in Sugar Trust Fraud Trials Gerbracht Admits That H. O. Havemeyer Instructed Him to Doctor the Tests Adopted in Grading Sugar That Was Brought the Big Refinery.

New York, June 3.—That the sugar trust was cheating the people from whom it was buying sugar by the use of false tests at the same time that it was cheating the government by means of false weights, seemed to be indicated in the testimony of Ernest W. Gerbracht, the superintendent of the Williamsburg refinery, in the sugar fraud trial in the United States circuit court.

Gerbracht swore up and down in his cross-examination that he knew nothing of the false weights on the docks, declaring that that all belonged to Spitzer, but he did admit knowing about the sugar tests. He refused to characterize these tests as false, preferring to describe them as not being "true tests."

The amount which the sugar trust paid to the sugar merchants was determined not alone by the weight of the sugar, but on its quality as fixed by the polariscope test. The sugar was supposed to have been subjected to a so-called "standard test" at the refinery, and the bills paid in accordance with the results.

There was some surprise when Mr. Stimson, while cross-examining Gerbracht, suddenly asked him if he had not said that H. O. Havemeyer had directed him to falsify tests of sugar at the refinery. Gerbracht at first said that Mr. Havemeyer had told him no such thing, but finally said: "Mr. Havemeyer told me to keep the tests low."

"Well," said Mr. Stimson, "it seems to be only a difference in verbiage."

Mr. Stimson wanted to know if this order of Mr. Havemeyer's did not amount to a direction to affect the price paid to the merchants from whom it was bought, but Gerbracht said it referred to the cost of refining sugar. Then Mr. Stimson got him to admit that this was practically the same thing and keeping the test low meant paying less to the merchants for the sugar. He insisted that he had not made these tests personally.

"Did not you make the tests lower than their true figure?" he was asked by Mr. Stimson.

"Yes."

"Didn't Mr. Havemeyer tell you to do so?"

"Yes."

It appeared that the sugar trust had been able to accept high and low grades of sugar from producers and had operated to the great disadvantage of its rivals in this respect. Gerbracht admitted that the lower tests had affected the business of other refineries, when questioned on this by Mr. Stimson.

It came out that the sugar was tested not only at the refinery, but there was also a test made at the Wall street office and in some cases word would come over from the Wall street office to make the test lower. This was on the refined product, however. In such case coarser sugar would be mixed in apparently to lower the grade. Gerbracht kept on insisting to the very end that making the test lower than the true test was not falsifying, until a good many had to smile.

Just before he left the stand it developed that Gerbracht, immediately upon leaving the sugar trust, had made a contract with the Arbuckle for five years at a salary of $30,000 a year. He got $20,000 from the sugar trust.

Concerning the wedding of Rollin A. Turner, son of the Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Turner of this city, the Greensburg News says:

One of the most brilliant nuptial services ever solemnized in this city, and one in which society took especial interest, was the Turner-Hill nuptials, solemnized at the handsome home of W. J. Hill and wife Wednesday evening at eight o'clock.

Elaborate, almost beyond description, were the decorations, profuse in detail and lavish to an unusual degree. These consisted of smilax, carnations, white roses and various cut flowers woven and interwoven into charming clusters and links of confusion. In the ceremony room the decorations were banked in front of a large bay window, and it was before this beautiful altar that the contracting parties stood as the service was spoken.

A few minutes previous to eight o'clock the bride descended the stairway, being met by her father, and passed along an aisle of flowers, made of smilax, that stretched from the stairway to the entrance of the ceremony room. The groom met them at the altar, accompanied by Robert Woodfill, as best man. Miss Marie Ryan of Cincinnati, was bridesmaid and attended Miss Hill and her father. Preceding the bride were the flower girls, little Misses Florence Zoller and Catherine Woodfill, who carried baskets of pink sweet peas, which they strewed in the pathway of the aisle as they marched to the altar.

The ring ceremony was used and the service, very impressive and beautiful, was spoken by the Rev. Father Lawrence W. Fichter of St. Mary's Catholic church.

At the conclusion of the service an elegant luncheon was served on the spacious veranda, converted into a dining room by being curtained in. The bridal table was exceedingly beautiful, with its immaculate linen, the sides were draped in smilax with a large vase of bridal roses and maiden hair fern in the center. Place cards were heart shaped and hand-painted, each showing a different scene from some nuptial party. Cut glass candlesticks with white shades reposed at each plate where were also silver slippers as souvenirs. Eight guests were seated at the bridal table.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hill and is one of the city's most popular society ladies. She is a member of a number of the younger society organizations and is a favorite with all. Mr. Turner is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Turner and a leading barrister of the city. He is looked upon as one of the brightest young men in Greensburg, is a member of the legal firm of Tremain & Turner, and is highly esteemed by the community at large.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner left on the late train for Chicago, where they will visit for several days and attend the wedding of Mr. Turner's brother, William Turner, which takes place on June 8th. On their return to this city they will make their home with Mr. and Mrs. Hill until their new home on Main street can be constructed.

The guests from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. William Chiddister, Mrs. Harry Metzger and daughter, Miss Gertrude of Indianapolis; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Ryan and daughters, Misses Marie and Helen, and Miss Sallie Newman of Cincinnati; Miss Sadie Smiley of Burney, and the Rev.

and Mrs. J. W. Turner and children of Rushville.

Indianapolis Star: Mrs. W. F. McCloud gave a linen shower and heart contest Wednesday evening for Miss Mae Mote, a June bride. The decorations were red and white hearts and candles, and a feature of the party was a wishing well, from which Miss Mote drew her gifts. The ices were in the forms of cupids and hearts. The guests were Misses Marie Langdon, Alice and Beatrice Lewis, Hazel Dearing, Harriet, Rutherford, Hazel Davis, Mrs. Orion Holmes, Mrs. Charles Warfel, Mrs. C. G. Cameron, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Dearing, Mrs. A. W. Thompson and Mrs. Ulysses Friend of this city and Misses Lula and Mary Pulliam, Grace Rainey, Arleigh Offutt, Leonore Wooden of Rushville, and Ethel McCloud of Greencastle.

DR. BELL WILL ATTEND SHOOT

Smokeless Powder Manufacturer
From St. Paul Will be Present
For Local Tournament.

TO BRINK SAMPLES WITH HIM

Dr. Bell of St. Paul, who discovered the ingredients for the Bell smokeless powder and who has organized a company and is now manufacturing the powder at St. Paul, will be here for the third annual tournament of the Rushville Gun and Country club next Tuesday and Wednesday. He expects to bring samples of his powder to be used free of charge by the shooters there. He will bring only a limited amount, however. Dr. Bell thinks that he can manufacture his powder cheaper than any other powder of its kind on the market and plans to revolutionize the smokeless powder market. A number of local sportsmen attended the shooting tournament at Greensburg yesterday when Dr. Bell's powder was tested.

For the first six months of last year 800,000 Bibles were printed and circulated in China, while during the whole of the previous year the number was only 500,000.

ENTHUSED BY DAY'S RESULTS

tireless industry. Other speeches were made extolling the work of the committee. The suggestion was placed in the form of a motion which was quickly seconded. The meeting was loudly unanimous in extending a vote of thanks to the members of the committee.

The matter of a weekly band concert was suggested. Every business man present expressed himself as being much in favor of such a move and said that it was one of the best drawing cards they could have.

Another feature of the band concert was presented by A. P. Wagoner. The fact that the organization would receive money for their concerts, would mean that it would give life to them and that Rushville would support a band. Mr. Wagoner made a long speech in favor of the band, and said that they were to be commended for their work as they practiced week after week with no other end in view than probably four concerts a season. Several speeches were made heartily endorsing weekly band concerts. The matter was referred to the entertainment committee for them to confer with the band management.

The press committee made the following report in regard to "Big Wednesday":

The press committee has seen in person most of the merchants who were participants in the "Big Wednesday." The report of practically all was a hearty endorsement of the day. We think that all are ready for another "Big Wednesday" in two weeks time. Nearly all the merchants report good sales on the articles they advertised besides a very satisfactory trade in general.

The press committee made an effort to see every merchant in the city whether they were members of the association or not. The press committee in its rounds in soliciting the merchants found quite a number who said that they had never been asked to join the association. Better have the committee on membership get to work.

There was some complaint that the price of $2.00 each for this big day was a little high. The press committee does not intend to work on any cheap jobs or not charge enough to come out even. We feel that two dollars is cheap for the printing, the shows, the concert, and all the good advertising this day has done the city in general.

Now if there should be a surplus left the press committee will certainly find use for it. Some day we'll try to have a nice surprise for you with what surplus we can save.

We would like to have all those present to impress on the minds of all that the press committee is not a bunch of grafters or trying to break up the merchants of Rushville, but that we were appointed by our president to do the will of this association to the best of our ability.

tion to the best of our ability.

We ask all those present to give us all the suggestions in the way of inducements to bring people to the city. We would suggest that all the merchants keep their stores open at night until the band concert is over on "Big Wednesdays."

It has taken lots of time to see all the merchants in regard to the advertisements, so we have been a little delayed in the collecting. We would like for all those who have not paid their $2.00 to send the cash to Hargrove & Mullin's store or to the O. P. C. H. Thanks.

The following is the suggestion of the press committee for auction and bargain day and "Big Wednesday" on June 15, which was adopted:

Let it be advertised through the county that the merchants association will furnish a free auction to all the farmers who will bring in that day, horses, cattle, hogs, hay, corn or any other things that will not conflict with the merchants. The association will hire or have donated the services of at least two good, well known auctioneers. That a list of all things the farmer will bring in to be auctioned be included in the big advertisement.

That the merchants be solicited for articles from their stores to be sold along with the things the farmers bring in. That such things as the merchants see fit to have sold at auction on that day shall be put in the hands of the committee at the very lowest price the merchants can afford. That all moneys over the price quoted will be the property of the Merchants' Association.

That the entertainment committee be requested to plan some new and out of the ordinary form of entertaining the crowds. We, the press committee, think that this form of advertisement together with the bargain day will have a great influence to bring a very large crowd to the city. The moneys derived from the sale of the articles from the various stores will tend to create a very much needed advertising fund.

The Hon. Fred Capp, the Hon. A. P. Wagoner and the Hon. "Tony" Schlichte have signified their willingness to assist in this auction day.

Very near all the details of the former big day were attended to by the press committee so we feel that the co-operation of the entertainment committee will be essential to the success of the big days.
